Yesterday evening, the Italian restaurant La Fontana, at Stratumseind, was filled with happy faces enjoying their meal. At the invitation of the Eindhoven company Itility, fifty members of De Zonnebloem enjoyed a delicious Italian dinner, accompanied by accordion music.

“It was a spontaneous gesture by our company to people of the generation who formed the basis of our present society through sheer hard work”, says Itility’s general manager Daphne Houtman. “It was fantastic and everyone enjoyed themselves. It is certainly worth doing again”.

“IT’S A GREAT FEELING TO GET AN EVENING LIKE THAT PROVIDED FOR YOU AS A THANK YOU FOR ALL THOSE YEARS OF HARD WORK”

Party

Rinus Spekken, chair of De Zonnebloem Eindhoven region, also enjoyed it. “The evening was so special. All those people really enjoying themselves and making a party of it together. Wonderful”. Henk van den Boomen was one of the guests. “It’s a great feeling to get an evening like that provided for you as a thankyou for all those years of hard work. It feels really special”, said the Eindhoven senior citizen. “And seeing how much fun everyone had together, you can say it was a success for sure”. When Itility approached La Fontana owner Alex Ozel with the proposal, he says he didn’t hesitate for a second. “Of course not. These people have created the society we live in today. So I feel honored to be able to welcome them here and give them an evening of fun and delicious food. They really deserve it”.
